

At March SHARE in Atlanta, Tributary Systems Promotes Unified Data Protection for Heterogeneous Enterprise Data Centers

Consultants On Hand To Discuss How Tributary Systems' Storage Director Enables Sharing And Optimizing Enterprise Storage

SHARE, Atlanta, March 12, 2012 – In Booth 113 at the SHARE Expo now at the Atlanta OMNI, Tributary Systems is promoting unified data protection across heterogeneous servers including IBM® z (and Linux on z), IBM Power Systems (i and AIX), HP NonStop™, HP Open VMS™, VMware®, Linux®, Unix® and Windows®. Tributary is an IBM Business Partner and member of the IBM Destination z community.

SHARE attendees are invited to stop by to discuss their storage challenges and to enter the drawing for a 500 GB Toshiba portable external hard drive. While there, they also can get a copy of the white paper “Virtual Tape Reduces Costs And Improves Performance In IBM Mainframe Environments.” The ROI white paper can also be downloaded directly from tributary.com/ROI.

About Storage Director. Storage Director’s “Any-to-Any” connectivity empowers IBM z customers to share storage resources among their diverse environments. Storage Director can be used to support any tape or disk technology; add data deduplication; replicate data to disaster recovery locations over WAN and Cloud environments, and migrate legacy data media to newer technology.
